ISRP SPRING SEMINAR AND ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Molecular Products, Parkway, Harlow Business Park, Harlow, Essex, CM19 5FR

We are pleased to announce that the ISRP European Section Spring Seminar and Annual General Meeting (AGM) will be hosted at Molecular Products on 24-25 April 2018.

About Molecular Products

Molecular Products is a world leader in the design and manufacture of life critical devices for the treatment of breathable gases. Where there is a finite quantity of air, Molecular Products' leading edge technologies will sustain human life independently, or collectively, to maintain a breathable environment.

Molecular Products' innovative technology portfolio ranges from activated carbon filtration media for use in air purifying respirators, to carbon dioxide absorbers for the removal of carbon dioxide during anaesthesia. These products are exported to over 80 countries for a broad range of markets including medical, defence, diving and industrial safety.

Molecular Products' business has grown from its beginnings as a small producer of lab-based and industrial chemicals, to an international manufacturer of cutting edge solutions to maintain breathable atmospheres in some of the most challenging environments.

Harlow is a former Mark One New Town and local government district in the west of Essex, England.

Situated on the border with Hertfordshire, it occupies a large area of land on the south bank of the upper Stort Valley, which features a canal section near its watermill. Old Harlow is a village-size suburb founded by the early medieval age and most of its high street buildings are early Victorian and residential, mostly protected by one of the Conservation Areas in the district. In Old Harlow is a field named Harlowbury, a de-settled monastic area which has the remains of a chapel, a scheduled ancient monument.

Harlow is a 30 mile drive from central London.
