International Society for Respiratory Protection 20th Conference

<http://www.isrp.com>

Held only once every two years, the ISRP conference serves as a global forum for the exchange of knowledge related to the science, technology, regulation, development, and practice of respiratory protection.

The ISRP is holding its twentieth international conference for the first time as a virtual event May 10th to May 12th, 2022 and preceded on May 9th by a professional development session.

The Technical Program will cover all aspects of respiratory protection, including:

Pandemic Response

Accommodating Underserved Populations

First Responder Needs

High Hazard Applications

Development of Standards

Fit and Fit Testing

Education and Training in Selection, Fitting, Care and Use

Ignite Presentation: New Ideas and Technologies

Science and Characterization

Respiratory protection science: old problems waiting for new solutions

Authors are invited to submit abstracts for consideration by the technical committee by visiting <https://isrp2022.exordo.com/>
